Alden Nowlan (January 25, 1933 – June 27, 1983) was a Canadian poet, novelist, and playwright. He was born in Kentville, Nova Scotia, and grew up in the small town of Amherst. Nowlan attended the University of British Columbia and later taught at the University of New Brunswick. Nowlan's poetry often explores the themes of identity and place, and he is known for his use of imagery and metaphor. Nowlan's works include the poetry collections Between Tears and Laughter and Something Rare and Beautiful. He is also the author of the novel The New Land and the memoir A Reminiscence (1933-1983). Nowlan was a significant figure in Canadian literature, and his work continues to be studied and appreciated by scholars and readers alike.
